

The following companies have agreed to change the prescription deadline for filing a lawsuit as a result of a Hurricane Katrina or Hurricane Rita claim.

AS OF MONDAY, AUGUST 28TH, THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF ACT 802 HAS BEEN UPHELD. Therefore, ALL insurance companies, by law, must extend prescription for Hurricane Katrina and Rita claims by 1 year. Pursuant to Act 802, any insured under a property and casualty policy insuring property in Louisiana shall have until August 30, 2007 to file suit or legal action with regard to any claim for property damages caused by Hurricane Katrina, and shall have until September 25, 2007 to file suit or legal action with regard to any property damages caused by Hurricane Rita.

* These stipulations to extend prescription do not apply to any claims arising under a flood policy written by these companies and issued under the NFIP pursuant to the Write Your Own (WYO) program because the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) is run by the Federal Government, which sets the rules and regulations on how and when to file claims and lawsuits, because the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) is run by the Federal Government, which sets the rules and regulations on how and when to file claims and lawsuits. For more information on NFIP, please contact your agent or FEMA. *******

Any insured under a property and casualty policy insuring property in Louisiana shall have until August 30, 2007 (unless otherwise noted) to file suit or legal action with regard to any claim for property damages caused by Hurricane Katrina, and shall have until September 25, 2007 (unless otherwise noted) to file suit or legal action with regard to any claim for property damages caused by Hurricane Rita if your company is listed below. Please be aware that some insurers have extended the prescriptive period to two years but are reserving the limited right to give the Department 30 or 60 days written notice to rescind the stipulation, but only if a court determines that Act 802 of the 2006 Regular Session of the Louisiana Legislature is unconstitutional. Thus, Commissioner Donelon states that until there is a final court decision, all hurricane claimants whose companies have filed a stipulation are now fully protected because of Directive 199.

Please check the entire list, as there are 4 groups of companies listed**

The following companies have agreed to the terms of Directive 199 and have extended prescription until August 30, 2007 for Hurricane Katrina claims, and September 25, 2007 for Hurricane Rita claims.
